Motion to Rename the Executive Committee to the "Motherboard"

Proposer: Alia Meek (2106850)
Seconder: Edmund Goodman (2006527)
Thirder: Ivan Kudryavtsev (2000646)
Fourther: Joel Coulon (2204489)

The society notes:

1. The SU, by default, refers to the students who run a society as the "Executive committee"
2. Some societies have renamed their committees
3. A motherboard (also called mainboard, main circuit board, MB, mboard, backplane board, base board, system board, mobo; or in Apple computers logic board) is the main printed circuit board (PCB) in general-purpose computers and other expandable systems. It holds and allows communication between many of the crucial electronic components of a system, such as the central processing unit (CPU) and memory, and provides connectors for other peripherals [1]

The society believes:

1. Calling ourselves the "Exec" is boring, unoriginal and not remotely computing-related
2. The "Motherboard" would be fun, original, computing-related
3. The relationship between the "exec" and the society's activities is isomorphic to the relationship between the motherboard and a computer's activities

The society resolves:

1. The Computing Society's Executive committee should henceforth be referred to as the Motherboard

As a result of these resolutions, Section 4.1 of the constitution now reads:
The Society's Executive Committee ("Motherboard") shall be made up of at least three voting officers of whom two shall be the President/Chair and the Treasurer respectively.
